A handicap/advantage system for newcomers/beginners.

Where an individual that has never raced, or never won a heat race, starts with a 2-lap head start. In other words, in their first race they only fly 8 laps while the more experienced flyers fly the full 10 laps. If a newcomer/beginner wins a heat by only flying 8 laps, in the next heat they get a 1 lap handicap and fly 9 laps in the next heat race. They keep flying the handicap they have acquired until they win a 8 or 9 lap heat race. Once they win a 9-lap heat race, they obviously no longer get a handicap. Keeping track of handicaps will be “on-their-honor” system. This system also applies to Electric Warbirds that fly 7 laps!
